

Detox from Methadone Dependency / Methadone Detox - Connecticut

Categories : Substance Abuse

Methadone maintenance clinics provide outpatient detox from methadone addictions by slowly decreasing the methadone that a person gets. This is called “tapering” or “ambulatory detox.”

If the person wants a different type of detox from methadone, they can:

- Seek treatment from any agency offering detox. These programs will assess the client's health condition, addiction history, etc. and decide whether they are appropriate for their program.
- Call a Central Intake/Placement or detox provider to ask about options in your area. See the CT DMHAS webpage to find the provider in your region, <https://www.ct.gov/dmhas/cwp/view.asp?q=335226>

TO FIND PROVIDERS IN CONNECTICUT'S COMMUNITY SERVICES DATABASE:

Search by service names:

Inpatient Drug Detoxification

Outpatient Drug Detoxification

Methadone Maintenance

---

PREPARED BY: 211/tb

CONTENT LAST REVIEWED: February2022