

Home Barrier Evaluation/Removal

Categories : Disability Related Services, Housing, Older Adult Programs

PROGRAM ADMINISTRATION:

Department of Aging and Disability Services, through their Assistive Technology Loan Program (ATLP) offers a:

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION: Home Barrier Evaluation/Removal programs offer financial assistance, in the form of low-interest loans, to people with disabilities who require modifications in their home or apartment to eliminate barriers to accessibility. Modifications may include installing ramps, elevators, stair glides or lifts, widening doorways, installing grab bars in showers and bathrooms, lowering kitchen and other cabinets, or making other modifications in their homes or apartments to make them accessible. Peer counselors will also help consumers to assess the accessibility of their homes or apartments and assist them in finding the supplies and services needed to make the modifications.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE: Individuals with a disability, and parents, guardians, family members, or legal representatives of a person with a disability. The individual must be a resident of Connecticut for at least a year and have a disability that permanently affects major life activity.

COST: Loans are repaid at varying rates and according to income

HOW TO APPLY:

- Contact the nearest Center for Independent Living.
- Call the Connecticut Tech Act Project, at 860-424-4881, or send an email to the CTTAP, or visit their website at <https://cttechact.com/>. Alternatively, one can call the Department of Aging and Disability Services' toll-free number, 800-537-2549, to inquire about their programs.

TO FIND PROVIDERS IN CONNECTICUT'S COMMUNITY RESOURCES DATABASE:

Search by service name: Home Barrier Evaluation/Removal

SOURCES: Connecticut Tech Act Project; Connecticut Bureau of Rehabilitation Services

PREPARED BY: 211/ch

CONTENT LAST REVIEWED: March2025