

Connecticut's Coordinated Access Networks: Eight Regions, One System, Ending Homelessness

Homeless or in a Housing Crisis?

Connecticut has a new system:
Coordinated Access Networks
(CAN)

Connecticut 2-1-1 is the primary access point for people in housing crisis to connect with their local CAN.

Call 2-1-1,
Select Option 3, then Option 1
or 1-800-203-1234

What should I do if I have a housing crisis?

Call 2-1-1. Select Option 3, then Option 1

What happens if I call 2-1-1 (Option 3, option 1)?

You will be connected to a contact specialist who will talk with you about your individual housing circumstances. You may also receive referrals for assistance.

Why can't I just call a shelter?

By calling 2-1-1, you have the best chance of getting the services you need. With the new Coordinated Access Network (CAN) system, you don't need to call around to shelters. We want to keep you from experiencing homelessness by keeping you housed and out of shelter, if possible.

What if I can't call 2-1-1?

You should go to your local soup kitchen, library, police station, or church, where someone can help you make the call.

What should I expect when I call 2-1-1?

You can expect that contact specialists at 2-1-1 will assess your situation and attempt to help you solve your housing crisis as quickly as possible. If appropriate, you might receive a referral to your regional CAN.

How can I help someone in need?

If you know someone experiencing homelessness, help them to call 2-1-1 (Option 3, then Option 1) and encourage them to follow through with the local intake appointment. If you or someone you know is in immediate danger, call 911.
